Course Description:
This course is designed to impact the methodologies of a dental team in relation to caries risk assessment, preventive therapy, and management of the disease. This lecture will review the importance of evidence-based preventive therapy and treatment options related to the caries balance model to combat the caries infection. Through an interactive lecture format, the audience members will be able to immediately incorporate the information into practice.

Session Objectives
At the conclusion of this lecture, the participant should be able to:
• Understand how to perform a caries risk assessment
• Identify preventive and disease management therapy as indicated by the science on antimicrobials, fluorides, sealants, buffering products, assessment tools, etc.
• Describe the Caries Balance Model, CAMBRA, and Minimally Invasive Dentistry
• Assess the value of CAMBRA in a dental practice
